

C. Aaron LeMay – Biography

C. Aaron LeMay, CPA, is an experienced higher education professional with 15 years of service to Texas public and independent universities. Currently, he serves as the Associate Vice Chancellor for Finance & System Controller for the University of North Texas (“UNT”) System. He provides leadership and strategic direction to the UNT System’s accounting, financial reporting, external audit, internal financial controls, payments and payroll operations, as well as to support centers for UNT, UNT Health Science Center, UNT Dallas and the UNT System Administration Office. In addition to his involvement with TASSCUBO, Aaron is a member of NACUBO’s Tax Council, which helps advise on tax issues of concern to the association.

Previously, Aaron was the Senior Associate Controller at the UNT System and Controller for the UNT. A joint position in the UNT System unified controller office model. Prior to transitioning to the UNT System, he worked as the Associate Vice President for Financial Services & Controller at Sam Houston State University. In addition to his public university work, Aaron was a Research Accountant at Rice University and clerk for Judge Brent Gamble in the 270th Civil Court, Harris County. He also held accounting positions at Baylor University and was an auditor in the Offices of Pattillo, Brown, & Hill, L.L.P. in Waco, TX.

Aaron graduated with honors from Ouachita Baptist University earning a Bachelor of Arts with majors in Biblical Studies Language and Accounting. He also graduated from Baylor University with a Master of Science in Education, emphasis on Higher Education Student Affairs Administration, and South Texas College of Law with a Doctor of Jurisprudence. Aaron is a Certified Public Accountant in Texas and admitted to the State Bar of Texas. During his time working with public universities, he completed SACUBO’s College Business Management Institute in 2014 and NACUBO’s Fellow Program in 2018. He has been recognized as a Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants Rising Star in 2013 and awarded a Distinguished Fellow of the National Education Finance Academy in 2015.